About NRL Cowboys House

NRL Cowboys House provides supported accommodation for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students from remote communities, enabling them to access secondary education.

The House is a purpose-designed and culturally respectful facility, providing life-changing opportunities for some of the most disadvantaged Indigenous students in the country.

At NRL Cowboys House, we believe it takes a whole community to educate a child.

Community Connector

76% of students in remote Far North Queensland do not have local access to a full secondary education.

As a Community Connector, you will create real change in remote Indigenous communities by giving one of their young people access to a quality education and a supportive home-away-from-home at NRL Cowboys House.

Join our team. Make a difference.
